

HISTORIA ET IUS – NUMBER 1

- 1) "A new journal" by Paolo Alvazzi del Frate and Giovanni Rossi
- 2) Mario Caravale, "How to ensure the rights of individuals and nations? Through constitutional freedom". The first courses of constitutional law in Rome after unification.
- 3) Nicola Picardi, To the origins of Vatican jurisdiction.
- 4) Carmine Punzi, The Supreme Court from keeper to new source of law?
- 5) Nicoletta Sarti, Between trade and science of law. The difficult professionalism of the medieval lawyer.
- 6) Giuseppe Mazzanti, Re- reading the Gemona del Friuli's constitutions.
- 7) Andrea Marchisello, The principle of the process: observations about the origin of the judicium under the Speculum aureum by Roberto Maranta (1476-1534?)
- 8) Michele Pifferi, The mandatum under criminal law doctrine in '500. Argumentative fictions and punitive logics.
- 9) Cristina Ciancio, Unity of jurisdiction and unity of the nation. The priority of the justice under the Italian debate on the commercial courts (1861-1888)
- 10) Damigela Hoxha, Albanian criminal code, first investigations on the criminal experience in Albania during the years of Fascism
- 11) Jacques Bouineau, Ludvig Holberg and the religious question
- 12) Francesco Mastroberti, The Liber Belial: An European work between law and theology. Introductory notes for an ongoing research project
- 13) Francesco Romano-Maria Teresa Sagri, Technologies for law history: lexical archives of the CNR
- 14) Dario Di Cecca, Justice and constitutions in Napoleonic Europe (about Antonio Grilli, Il difficile amalgama. Giustizia e codici nell'Europa di Napoleone)
- 15) Giordano Ferri, For an history of modern and contemporary law (about Mario Caravale, Storia del diritto nell'Europa moderna e contemporanea)
- 16) Xavier Godin, History of the justice in France (about Jean-Pierre Royer, Jean-Paul Jean, Bernard Durand, Nicolas Derasse et Bruno Dubois, Histoire de la justice en France du XVIIIe siècle à nos jours)
- 17) Massimo Nardoza, Romanistic tradition and new dimensions of the science of law (about Laura Solidoro Maruotti, La tradizione romanistica nel diritto europeo)
- 18) Gaetano Silvestri, On the modernity (about Federico Martino, Il volo notturno delle streghe. Il Sabba della modernità)