

HISTORIA ET IUS – NUMBER 3

- 1) Mario Ascheri, Certainty of law in Middle Age
- 2) Jacques Bouineau, Political reading of the reference to antiquity during the French Revolution
- 3) Rosalba Sorice, Regulae in aedificando. The Constitutio 'Asperitatem' and southern juridical doctrine on attempted crime during centuries XIII-XVI
- 4) Cecilia Pedrazza Gorlero, Prosecution of blood. The circumstantial value of the cruentatio cadaveris in the reflexion by Paolo Zacchia (1584-1659)
- 5) Ulrike Müßig, Montesquieu's mixed monarchy model and the indecisiveness of 19th century European Constitutionalism between monarchical and popular sovereignty
- 6) Faustino Martínez Martínez, Re-thinking the Constituion of 1812 Cádiz and the impossible constituent
- 7) Alessandro Riccioni, The codification of English criminal law. James Fitzjames Stephen and the Criminal Draft Code
- 8) Sylvain Soleil, Manéga en Bessarabie, Bello au Chili and Boissonade au Japon. Three reformers of the nineteenth century face the French legal model
- 9) Michele Natale, A short reflexion about the ritual code of 1913. Penal action, Una breve riflessione sul codice di rito del 1913. Criminal action, public prosecutor and investigating judge between mixed model and accusatory suggestions
- 10) Andrea Padovani, The ms. Stockholm, Kungliga Biblioteket B682. A description
- 11) Paolo Alvazzi del Frate, The Charte of 4th June 1814: an introduction
- 12) Julien Boudon, The place reserved for the legal history and comparative law in French legal doctrine in the twentieth century
- 13) Dario Di Cecca, For a research on French legal socialism
- 14) Nader Hakim, Private law and critical current: the weight of legal dogmatics
- 15) Vito Piergiovanni, A scientific path (about Mario Caravale, Scritti)
- 16) Giordano Ferri, The notariat between ancient and modern (about Maria Luisa Lombardo, Il notaio romano tra sovranità pontificia e autonomia comunale: secoli XIV-XVI)
- 17) Damigela Hoxha, Criminal codification in the XIXth century (about Bruno Dubois, Tanguy Le Marc'Hadour, Un code pour la nation. La codification du droit pénal au XIXe siècle)