

HISTORIA ET IUS – NUMBER 10

- 1) Floriana Colao, “L’albero nuovo si piega meglio di quello vecchio”. The “educative” justice towards minors during the Liberal period in Italy
- 2) Giovanni Basini, The Italian monetary legislation during the crisis between the two wars (1926-1936)
- 3) Raffaella Bianchi Riva, From the consensus to the dissent. The juridical relevance of the scandal in the episcopal elections (12th and 15th centuries)
- 4) Cristina Danusso, The judge Antonio Raimondi and the Fascism
- 5) Giuseppina De Giudici, “La donna di fronte alla legge penale”, the issue of the criminal responsibility of women between the nineteenth and twentieth centuries
- 6) Dolores Freda, As in Parliament as in court: the divorce through the parliamentary procedure in England during the eighteenth century
- 7) Federica Furfaro, Paolo Emilio Bensa: an Italian civil lawyer with (also) a Pandectists education
- 8) Francesca Iurlaro, Pirates, barbarians and shepherds. Three figures on the edge of humanitas in the Alberico Gentili’s thinking (1552-1608)
- 9) Maria Morello, The organization of the job in the artisan shops between XIII and XV century. The apprenticeship contract.
- 10) Marc Ortolani, The process to corpses of suicides at the end of “Ancien Régime”. Two examples from Provence
- 11) Véronique Pinson-Ramin, The question “Préalable” in Britain in the XVII century
- 12) Stefania T. Salvi, The irresistible “audacia” of a modern thinker. Christian Thomasius’s book De crimine bigamiae
- 13) Giuseppe Speciale, The Assumption of Virgin Mary in heaven: Giustiniano and Bonaventura from Bagnoregio
- 14) Stefano Vinci, The judicial policy of Italian fascism in the jurisprudence of the Special Court for the defense of the State (1926-1943)
- 15) Christophe Archan, The Small Primer and the legal triads. The judges and their sources in medieval Ireland
- 16) Vida Azimi, A “beheaded” customs officer: Nathaniel Hawthorne. A literary anthology regarding customs
- 17) Julien Boudon, Bicameralism or bicameralisms? Typology test of bicameral parliaments
- 18) Giulia Maria Labriola, For an history of legal culture. Reflections on a complex canon between France and Italy
- 19) Giuseppe Mazzanti, About Bérenger Frédol’s book Summula in foro poenitentiali and two works on confession attributed to Giovanni from Legnano and Antonio from Budrio

- 20) Ferdinando Mazzarella, An Intellectual Trajectory in the Age of Antiformalism. Gény and the Rise of the Law of Society
- 21) Cristina Vano, About the vocation of our places. Translations and adaptations in the international diffusion of the work of F.C. von Savigny
- 22) Introduction, by Cristina Ciancio
- 23) Giuseppe Speciale, The “lotta del male contro il male” into “cimitero dei vivi”. On the work of the condemned in the late nineteenth century
- 24) Floriana Colao, The death penalty in Italy from transitional justice to the crisis of the seventies. In memory of Mario Da Passano and Mario Sbriccoli, ten years after their death
- 25) Elio Tavilla, Biological order and moral order. Notes on Italian criminological reflection regarding the death penalty
- 26) Cristina Ciancio, Requiescant in pace. Some observations on the protection of the corpses in the Kingdom of Italy
- 27) Marco Cavina, The “buonismo” of the Courts of Assizes. “Filo-eutanasiche” cultures between XIX and XX centuries
- 28) Marco Nicola Miletti, Ultima linea rerum. The death of the accused in the Italian criminal process between the nineteenth and twentieth centuries
- 29) Giovanni Chiodi, Criminal legality and punishment of crimes against humanity at the Nuremberg trial: the vision of Giuliano Vassalli
- 30) Maura Fortunati, “La pietosa ingiustizia dei magistrati”. The debate on the suicide of the insured in the nineteenth and twentieth century
- 31) Alfons Aragoneses, Silenced corpses. Spanish law and the Franco's repression graves
- 32) Remedios Morán Martín, José Manuel Pérez-Prendes Muñoz-Arraco, All history is historiography
- 33) Eduardo Cebreiros Álvarez, Doctoral theses in History of Law presented in Spanish universities